Coach & Four

The Coach & Four has a long and established history in the town of Wilmslow.

The original building dates from the construction of the Manchester to London Turnpike road and was built as a coaching house in c.1753.

With the arrival of the railway in 1842, the pub continued to give rest and refreshment to the weary traveller.

In 2005 the Wilmslow lodge was built offering 36 bedrooms and continuing the sites tradition of hospitality.

Please relax and enjoy our establishment as so many have in the past.
